

2012: Resetting the Count Maya Opinions on 2012

Luis Llovera:

I think that 2012 is just another day in which normal things will take place in people's lives. From the pre-Hispanic perspective, 2012 is the change of a cycle that leads to a new one. It is not the end of the world or of humanity. The new cycle is meant as a new start. We will recapture elements that follow this transition of what it is to be human beings. So, we could define 2012 as the next step towards a new transition, or a new phase, of humanity.